DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 2004/0257792 A1 to Yu et al.

US 2004/0257792 A1 to Yu et al. discloses a back light module comprising a lamp case having a bottom wall and a top open side, a plurality of lamp tubes fixedly mounted inside the lamp case, a diffuser board fastened to the top open side of lamp case and suspending above lamp tubes and support members stopped at the bottom of lamp case to support diffuser against deformation. US 2004/0257792 A1 to Yu et al. does not have the support members formed integral with a bottom wall of diffusing board.

In other words, US 2004/0257792 A1 to Yu et al., discloses the claimed invention except for having the support members formed integral with a bottom wall of diffusing board. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to incorporate having the support members formed integral with a bottom wall of diffusing board in Yu et al. because it has been held that lacking any criticality, to make prior art parts integral does not make the claimed invention patentable over that prior art (In re Larson, 144 USPQ 347 [CCPA 1965]).

Regarding claim 2, according to claim 1, wherein bottom support members are perpendicularly extended from the bottom wall of diffuser board. The axes of the supports in Yu et al. are perpendicularly extended from the bottom wall (figure 4a).

Regarding claims 3 and 4, both according to claim 1, wherein support members are injection molded with diffuser board in integrity and that diffuser board is made of acrylic.

Claim 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 2004/0257792 A1 to Yu et al. in view of USPN 6,652,109 B2 to Nakamura.

Yu et al does not disclose that support members are injection molded and with diffuser board in integrity or that diffuser board is made of acrylic.

Nakamura in a surface light emission device and method of manufacture the same teaches both the use of injection molding in a back light module and the use of acrylics. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to incorporate the teaching of Nakamura in Yu et al and injection mold the support member and diffusion board from an acrylic resin. The reason is that it well known in the illumination art to injection mold back light device components from an acrylic resin as shown by Nakamura.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 10/03/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Under 37 CFR 1.55 (a)(4) (i) (B) "An English language translation of a non-English language foreign application is not required except (B) When necessary to overcome the date of reference relied upon by the examiner". A timely English language translation has not been filed.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

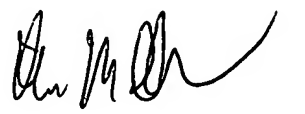

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
